

MAINFORUM™

Mr. Alejandro Silva's professional career has focused on different manufacturing and metrology projects over the years, helping manufacturers to be more efficient by controlling their processes, reducing scrap and improving cycle time. He is currently the President of Renishaw Mexico and Central America. In 2007, he founded Metric Precision Group, which was later acquired by Renishaw PLC. He holds an Engineering degree on Automation and Electronics from the Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León (UANL).