

MAINFORUM™

Dr. Gilberto Basilio-Sanchez has over 12 years of international research experience in areas related with advanced technologies. He has a professional career within Intel of more than 10 years where he has held positions at the Intel's Design Center in Guadalajara, Jalisco and the Intel's Business Development Unit in Mexico City. He is currently the Intel IoT Director for America's Territory. He holds a PhD on Electrical Engineering from Boston University, a Master's degree in Science with honors from the Universidad Nacional Autónoma de Mexico (UNAM), and from the same institution an Engineering degree in Telecommunications. He is passion about technology consulting, technology management, and technology-based entrepreneurship.