

Raúl Chavez Barreto O'Farrill

He is a Mechanical and Electrical Engineer from the Mexico National University (UNAM). He has worked for Ford Motor Company since 1989, developing activities in different functional areas, including:

- ✓ Process and Materials Handling engineering for the products assembled in the Cuautitlan Assembly Plant and Packaging Engineering for KD Operations (low volume programs in different countries), position performed in Dearborn, Michigan
- ✓ Program Manager in the Mexico Product Development Office
- ✓ Brand Manager, Medium Cars for the Mexican market
- ✓ Business Office and Strategy Manager in Product Development office, Mexico

In the current position, his main focus is to successfully grow the PD Mexico Office through new projects, competencies development and innovation; development of projects for the Mexican market and creation of new norms along with the AMIA related to the automotive industry